

Call for Papers & Panels

2008 Sigma Tau Delta International Convention, March 5–8
Louisville Marriott Downtown Hotel — Louisville, KY

Guidelines for Paper Submissions

All currently-enrolled members of Sigma Tau Delta and Sigma Kappa Delta, and Alumni Epsilon chapter members, are invited to submit critical essays, creative nonfiction, original poetry, fiction, drama/ screenplays, panel proposals and/or works focusing on the common reader, Kim Edward's The Secrets of a Fire King, to be considered for inclusion on the annual convention program. Essays on any topic of interest in the discipline are welcome; essays on the works of our featured speakers are especially encouraged. To be considered, paper submissions must conform to the following guidelines:

- Each member in good standing may submit a maximum of two works for consideration.
- To be considered, the two works must represent separate genres/categories: critical essay, creative nonfiction, poetry, fiction, drama/screenplay, common reader. Two works from the same category will not be considered.
- Proposed works must be submitted in duplicate, i.e. applications require two complete copies of each work being submitted for consideration, each copy including a completed submission form.
- Other than its title, no identification may appear on either copy of the submitted work. A completed submission form (available at www.english.org) must be attached to each of the two copies of a work being submitted for consideration.
- Prose submissions must be double-spaced, in a standard 12-point font, the text (exclusive of notes) limited to a maximum of 2000 words.
- Poetry submissions must also be typed in a standard 12-point font and may include a single poem or a group of poems. The submitted body of work (including any introductory comments necessary to contextualize the work) must be presentable within a 15-minute time slot. A group of poems must have a title.
- Each paper submission must be accompanied by a paper Submission Form available on the $\Sigma\Delta$ web site at www.english.org. The Submission Form includes pertinent contact information for the author as well as the signatures of the author and the chapter sponsor verifying that the author is a member in good standing with $\Sigma\Delta$. (Alumni Epsilon chapter members do not need a sponsor's signature.)
- Email and fax submissions will not be accepted.
- Paper submissions must be postmarked by November 14, 2007.

N.B.: Submissions not meeting the stated requirements will not be considered.

Guidelines for Panel Proposals

We encourage students, faculty sponsors, and Alumni Epsilon chapter members to propose panels on topics of general interest to both the discipline and the society. Panel presentations will be 75 minutes in length and might consider such topics as chapter activities, service projects, service learning, graduate school and/or career options, pedagogical issues surrounding canon formation or assessment, etc.; that is, topics that can best be explored in interactive, round-table discussions. Panels are not meant to be sets of correlated essays. For assistance in developing panel proposals, please contact Convention Chair, Shannin Schroeder, at smschroeder@saumag.edu.

- Panel proposals must be submitted using a Panel Submission Form available on the $\Sigma\Delta$ web site at www.english.org.
- Email and fax submissions will not be accepted.
- Panel proposals must be postmarked by November 14, 2007.

Submission Policies

- Submissions will be read in the order they are received. Acceptance is based on merit.
- Notification of acceptances will be sent on or before January 30, 2008, by email only to the address listed on the submission form.
- Space permitting, two submissions from one person may be accepted; as noted above, those works must be submitted in different categories (critical essay, fiction, poetry, drama, creative nonfiction, and responses featuring the common reader) and conform to all submission guidelines (appropriate length, submitted in duplicate, with submission forms attached, etc.)
- Authors must be present at the convention to read their own papers. Papers will not be read in the author's absence.
- Works accepted for paper presentation and presented at the convention will automatically be considered for the convention awards available in each category. Authors must present their works at the convention to be eligible for awards.

Convention Registration

Everyone attending the convention, including presenters and panelists, must register for the convention. Those registering by February 5, 2008, will receive an early-registration discount. Those registering after the deadline will pay the full fee. See the web site at www.english.org for details.
